What's New in Projectplace Q1 – 2018

It's the new year and we are excited to kick it off with a bang. During the first quarter, we will bring you a ton of customer driven and strategic enhancements that will ultimately improve the way you work and your Projectplace experience. See below for details on each upcoming enhancement.

Email to Boards

(January release)

We are excited to include this long-awaited feature in our January release of Projectplace enhancements. We are making it even easier to add cards to boards directly from your email inbox. Now you can enable boards to accept new cards from email. Just simply email the board's address and a card will be created from the content of your email.

Card Blockers

(January release)

This new feature will make it possible to signal that there is an issue with a card that prevents it from being completed. Card Blockers enable anyone viewing a board to identify and potentially correct any bottlenecks halting the task.

Documents Preview

(February release)

With document previews, we are happy to provide enhancements to your document collaboration experience. With the ability to view a simple screenshot, you can preview and understand what a document is, before reviewing, editing, or downloading. Look out for this feature in our February release.

Follow/Unfollow – Cards

(February release)

Not assigned to a card but need to understand how it progresses towards completion? Our new follow/unfollow functionality will allow you to stay up to date with the progress of a task even if you're not assigned to it. Get alerts around card status, change in assignee, card blockers, and due dates, all via email and in product notifications. We are preparing this feature for our February release.

Workspace Connection to Roadmaps

(March release)

When creating your long-term roadmap, planning initiatives for the long term can be tricky, especially when you start executing against those projects. With the ability to connect roadmap initiatives to project workspaces, you can keep track of projects at a high level in a purpose-built workspace. No more searching for projects and data, all relevant information will bubble up to your roadmap for a clear and concise view of progress. Be on the lookout for this game changing feature at the end of March.

Multi-Team Membership

(March release)

As an extension to our recently released teams functionality, Projectplace will support the ability to be a member of multiple teams. Find yourself constantly working and collaborating with people all over your business? Need to understand the deliverables and progress that each team is making? With the ability to contribute to multiple team overviews, you will have insight into the detailed workings of all teams throughout your business, making it easier to understand team commitments, strategy, and successes. We are breaking ground and preparing this enhancement for our March feature release.

Mobile Apps

(February release)

We have an exciting release for our mobile applications coming this first quarter. We are happy to bring the ability to view project plans directly from your iOS and Android apps. Now you can access activities and milestones on the go, no matter where or how you work. Start collaborating on the run with our February release.

Other enhancements

Throughout the quarter, we will also be releasing a number of minor enhancements and bug fixes. We will be updating our login page, adding custom fields on documents, and much more. Be sure to check out our monthly release notes for updates on these features. As always, our main goal is to provide an efficient, effective, performant space to collaborate and execute on work.
